WALK AGAINST CORRUPTION IS BACK!

TIPNG is set to host the 2024 Sir Anthony Siaguru Walk Against Corruption on June 16 in Port Moresby and Lae. The Sir Anthony Siaguru Walk Against Corruption stands as TIPNG’s flagship fundraising event, serving a three-fold purpose.

Firstly, it serves as a fundraiser, generating essential funds for our current and future operations. Secondly, it provides a platform for citizens to voice their opposition to corruption and the walk serves as an avenue to raising awareness among the public about this critical issue.

This year our theme is “Rise to the Occasion,” a powerful call to action. It positions all Papua New Guineans as agents of change, urging citizens to step and take responsibility in fostering a better future for PNG, with a sense of urgency.

During the walk, teams assemble at the selected venue and walk a route that is 3 kilometres long.

Teams come dressed in uniforms and have creative banners with anti-corruption messages. This year, prizes will be awarded for the best banner and the photo with the most reactions on Facebook with the hashtag #RiseToTheOccasion.

Dear Members, Friends and Supporters,

We've hit the ground running this year, working towards our commitment to make PNG a fairer, more honest place.

We launched the results of the 2023 Corruption Perceptions Index, with a strong call for that regular meetings of the National Anti Corruption Strategy Taskforce must be convened. The NACSTF is headed by the Departments of PM & NEC and the Justice & Attorney General.

Even though the riots of January 10 were a setback, they strengthened our resolve to continue to call for good governance and respect for Rule of Law by all citizens.

Also in this quarter, we farewelled our legal and communication interns, continued to engage with our members and participated in the 3rd Summit for Democracy in Seoul, South Korea.

Our Strategic Plan 2019 – 2023 ended last year. The wins were great but the opportunities to further our advocacy are even greater. As the team at TIPNG embark on the formation of our new Strategic Plan, we want to acknowledge your unwavering support towards our work.

This year, we will continue to work with key stakeholders to push for electoral reforms and advocate for the resourcing of integrity institutions to enable them to carry out their mandates.

As you read on the front page of this Newsletter, the Sir Anthony Siaguru Walk Against Corruption (SASWAC) will be happening on Sunday 16th June 2024 in Port Moresby and Lae. A number of organisations have already registered to participate and in-kind support is beginning to pick momentum. Get in touch with us now to register your organisation, school or family for the SASWAC!

Yours in Partnership,

Arianne Kassman
CEO, Transparency International PNG

PNGRGC COUNCIL MEMBERS INDUCTED

The PNG Resource Governance Coalition is the peak body seated in the PNG Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (PNGEITI).

The PNGRGC is the Civil Society body that contributes to the PNGEITI in ensuring that CSO participation is effective in contributing to resource governance issues in the country.

Recently, TIPNG as President of the PNGRGC, facilitated the induction of the council members, highlighting each member's roles and responsibilities.

The council members comprise of the Centre for Environmental Law and Community Rights (CELCOR), Institute of National Affairs (INA), Consultative Implementation and Monitoring Council (CIMC) and TIPNG with TIPNG serving as the President of the PNGRGC.

The induction was to ensure that all council members comprehensively understand their roles and responsibilities, fostering effective participation in the PNGEITI.

During the induction and council meeting, presentations were delivered by PNG CORE and PNGEITI. The PNGEITI expounded on the 2023 standards and outlines how CSO's can implement these standards.

Additionally, discussions were held on the establishment of a functional secretariat to enhance coordination among CSO's.

The PNGRGC serves as the overarching CSO body within the PNGEITI framework. It collaborates with the extractive industry and government stakeholders to advocate for transparency in revenue disclosure within the extractive sector.

PNG'S DAY OF SHAME

TIPNG Chairman Mr. Aitsi (second from right), President of Association of Superannuation Funds of PNG, Mr. Paul Sayer and representing POM Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Mr. Robert Aisi in an interview with EMTV after the January 10 riots.

The riots of January 10 that shook Port Moresby and other centres of the country was a result of deeper governance issues. In the absence of strong, independent and competent institutions we have seen a significant increase of corruption which in turn will reflect in the way we manage our Country and the quality of life for our People.

The frustration and anger amongst certain police personnel regarding alleged mishandling of payroll tax calculations was but a tip of the iceberg in terms of a dysfunctional government system. The public service and indeed the Police are institutions of state and if they are truly independent and free of political control should play a critical role as a check and balance to executive government.

During the rioting of January 10, we released a media statement calling on all citizens to think of their country and to not resort to violence and illegal activities, reminding citizens that such actions only inflict further suffering on innocent citizens and undermine the very foundations of law and order that we all rely upon.

In our media statement, we called on the Government of Papua New Guinea at the highest level to engage immediately in genuine open dialogue with the police representatives to address their legitimate grievances. And to do this quickly through transparent, open communication in order to resolve this crisis and to restore the rule of law and bring order to our society.

In our media statement, we also urge the Police Commissioner and the senior leadership of the Royal Papua New Guinea Constabulary to take all necessary measures to restore order and ensure the safety of citizens.

The opportunistic violence and looting in Port Moresby on January 10 witnessed by many during the day and into the evening is completely unacceptable and must be dealt with swiftly and decisively. TIPNG strongly believes that law enforcement authorities must uphold their duty to protect the public and apprehend those involved in criminal activities.

We put out a strong call emphasising the need for an independent investigation into the events leading up to the police strike and the subsequent violence. We urged the Government to engage in a transparent dialogue with police representatives to address their legitimate grievances.

The aftermath of the looting and violence has left devastating impact on businesses and individuals alike. The unrest has further eroded trust in the government.

ELECTORAL REFORM PUSH GAINS MOMENTUM

We have met with several development partners to advocate for greater attention and focus to ensure that electoral reform does occur before the 2027 National General Election.

Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA)

In January we met with an electoral mission from the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) who were seeking to identify areas of support to PNG's electoral management body.

We shared how we had been invited by the Special Parliamentary Committee on General Elections (SPCGE) to join a technical working group that identified 70 specific recommendations in a report that was tabled in Parliament in December 2023, and that this report should inform JICA's interventions.

International Institute or Democracy and Electoral Assistance (IDEA)

In February we also met with regional experts from the International Institute for Democracy and Electoral Assistance (IDEA), an intergovernmental organization that works to support and strengthen democratic institutions and processes around the world.

The JICA team pose for a photograph after their meeting with TIPNG's CEO and Deputy Director - Partnerships & Policy.

ABUSE OF PROCESSES IN PARLIAMENT UNDERMINES PUBLIC CONFIDENCE AND FEEDS CORRUPTION

Parliament sitting on February 15 during the vote of confidence Source: PNG Loop livestream.

The recent political tussle over the Vote of No Confidence motion in February raised questions and doubt on the democratic processes of the country.

TIPNG released a media statement expressing concerns over the Acting Speaker of Parliament's reported refusal to address a motion of no confidence against the Prime Minister and the adjournment of Parliament to May 2024. Such actions raise doubts regarding adherence to democratic principles and further diminish trust in government institutions. The denial of its consideration without due process undermines democratic rights and fosters a culture of impunity which weakens government checks and balances. The motion of no confidence is an important tool in holding the Executive accountable.

TIPNG urged the Parliament to fulfil its duty as the voice of the people by addressing crucial matters such as the Special Parliamentary Committee's report on General Elections, facilitating meaningful electoral reforms to restore integrity to political processes.

The motion of no confidence is constitutionally provided for under Section 145 and must adhere to Parliamentary Standing Order. The Parliamentary Standing Orders stipulates that such notices are private and hold precedence on Private Business days, typically Thursday.

TIPNG CALLS FOR REGULAR MEETINGS OF THE NATIONAL ANTI-CORRUPTION STRATEGY TASKFORCE

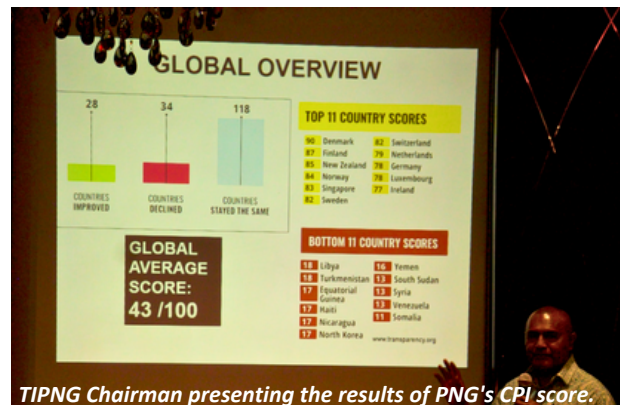

We released the results of the 2023 Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) in January. Papua New Guinea scored 29 out of 100, reflecting a high perceived risk of encountering corruption in interactions with the public sector in the country.

We made a strong call that there still seemed be to no meaningful impact on reducing levels of corruption in the public sector in the nation. TIPNG acknowledges some of the PNG Government's efforts in tackling corruption as demonstrated through recent interventions including:

- The amendment of the Proceeds of Crime Act with Unexplained Wealth provisions;
- The enacting of the Whistleblowers Act;
- The enacting of the Independent Commission Against Corruption, appointing commissioners and funding operationalization through the national budget;
- The inclusion of Governance within the MTDP IV.

While these are well-intentioned legislative and policy interventions, the breakdown in implementation and enforcement is still weak.

As PNG prepares its 2nd cycle Country Report under the United Nations Convention Against Corruption (UNCAC), we believe that there is an opportunity to strengthen national anti-corruption coordination.

TIPNG Chairman presenting the results of PNG's CPI score.

To achieve meaningful change in 2024, our call to the Government is to convene regular meetings of the National Anti-Corruption Strategy Taskforce, co-chaired by the Departments of Justice & Attorney General and Prime Minister & NEC. This can ensure progress on areas requiring attention, notably the Electoral Reforms led by the Special Parliamentary Committee, Police Reform, and National Freedom of Information Policy and Legislation.

PARTNERSHIP RENEWAL WITH APPLUS+ PNG

We renewed our partnership with Applus+ PNG. We signed an MOU with them in 2020 for pro bono recruitment support.

The partnership with Applus+ PNG is to provide us with pro bono recruitment support in enhancing our Human Resource capacity, a crucial element in TIPNG's mission to combat corruption effectively.

Through this collaboration, we aim to recruit skilled individuals who align with our mission and values, ensuring that we are well equipped to achieve our mission.

TIPNG CEO Ms. Kassman and Applus+ PNG General Manager James Fraser Byass signing the MOU renewal.

ENGAGING THE POM BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Transparency International was invited by the Port Moresby Chamber of Commerce and Industry to set up an information booth at its first Business breakfast of the year held on February 8th focusing on the impacts of the January 10 looting and rioting on the business community.

Our information booth allowed us direct engagement with individuals and business leaders to engage with our work and in supporting our cause in ensuring a more transparent and accountable Papua New Guinea.

FROM INTERNS TO CHANGEMAKERS

All smiles! The 2023-2024 TIPNG Interns: (L-R) Communications Intern, Shirley Cherake and Legal Interns, Karen Bak, Nabieu and Abigail Kafafi.

In a promising stride towards nurturing the next generation of legal and communications professionals, we brought onboard four interns for the 2023-2024 legal and communication internship. This is the 6th batch of legal interns alongside our inaugural Communications intern.

This marks a significant milestone in our commitment to fostering talent. Karen Bak, Abigail Kafafi and Nabieu Lansana who are law students at the University of Papua New Guinea, bringing with them fresh perspectives and dedication into our team.

Shirley Cherake, a final year Communications Student from Divine Word University, assumed the mantle of TIPNG's first-ever Communications intern.

Over the course of 12 weeks, these interns immersed themselves in the details of professional life, gaining hands-on experience and invaluable insights into TIPNG.

We remain optimistic that they will carry forth the knowledge and skills acquired during their time with us, emerging as formidable anti-corruption advocates in whatever path they may choose to follow.

EXPERTS SHARE VALUABLE KNOWLEDGE WITH TRAINEES

TIPNG's Internships for Communication and Law students, provide an opportunity for external speakers to share their expertise and expand the knowledge base of the interns.

We had the Deputy Head of the PNG Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI) Secretariat Mr. Christopher Tabel, speak with the interns on the importance of the work done through the PNGEITI framework.

Additionally, the legal interns had an information session with a member of the TIPNG's Board, Mr. James Lunge, on his personal career pathway and reflections on professionalism and integrity.

Lastly, both the Communication and Legal Interns had a mentoring session with TIPNG founding and current Board Director, Mr. Richard Kassman who stressed the importance of maintaining a personal brand and taking an active interest in the governance of Papua New Guinea.

YOUTH DEMOCRACY CAMP SET FOR JUNE

2019 MMYDC participants in Parliament House during a camp excursion.

Following the riots of January 10 this year, the Mike Manning Youth Democracy Camp scheduled for the end of January was deferred. The Camp is now set to happen from 25th June to 4th July 2024. Fifty (50) young people from across the country will come into Port Moresby to attend the intensive democracy camp to learn about principles of a democracy, elections, how laws are made, challenges on governance and leadership.

The Mike Manning Youth Democracy Camp is a flagship youth program by TIPNG incepted in 2007. Funding support for the Camp is made possible by the UNDP, Exxon Mobil and US Embassy.

LEADERSHIP THURSDAY AT KUNDU INTERNATIONAL

TIPNG Civic Engagement Lead Elizabeth Aribi explaining to students the qualities of a good leader.

Good leadership can have a profound impact on society just as poor leadership can lead to stagnation, division and even harm.

TIPNG recently had the opportunity to exchange ideas and insights with the students and staff of Kundu International Academy during their Leadership Thursday school program.

As part of our mission to empower people to act against corruption, we emphasized on the principles of effective leadership and the fight against corruption.

The atmosphere was filled with enthusiasm and optimism as students participated in discussions about having positive role models, knowing the values of leadership and why it is important.

Through an exploration of our work in combating corruption and promoting integrity and transparency in fostering a just society, students learn the importance of having positive role models.

From defining corruption to illustrating the characteristics of exemplary leadership, our presentation was an insightful one for both staff and students.

By equipping young minds with the knowledge and values necessary to lead with integrity, we pave the way for a brighter and more transparent future.

UNPACKING THE 2023 CPI WITH ICAC STAFF

In our mission to educate and empower citizens to take action against corruption, we unpacked information on the 2023 Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) with the staff of the Independent Commission Against Corruption (ICAC).

Every year, the TI global movement releases the results of the Corruption Perceptions Index to raise awareness at the global level, to provide an incentive for governments to improve, to have cross country and over-time comparison of corruption risks in the public sector and to provide data contribution to analysis and research.

The ICAC office invited us to share more insights on the 2023 CPI score and discuss ways forward that integrity institutions in Papua New Guinea can work together to see meaningful change.

ICAC Staff listening to TIPNG Deputy Director Communications present on the 2023 CPI results.

The ICAC is a Constitutional Office mandated by Section 220C of the Constitution to “contribute, in cooperation with other agencies, to preventing, reducing and combating corrupt conduct.” The Organic Law on the Independent Commission Against Corruption 2020 (OLICAC) was law enacted on November 12, 2020.

KPMG BOOSTS ENGAGEMENT AS CORPORATE MEMBERS

Information session with one of our longtime corporate members KPMG during their Quarter 1 Town Hall.

We were invited by KPMG to present on our work at their townhall session. During the session we highlighted our work and mission in empowering people to combat corruption in the country.

The session served as a platform to discuss corruption and its detrimental effects.

KPMG first signed up to be a member in 2006 and has continued to support our cause in the fight against corruption, notably their continued support in the Sir Anthony Walk Against Corruption since 2007.

SUMMIT FOR DEMOCRACY IN SEOUL, SOUTH KOREA

(Right) Civic Engagement Lead, Elizabeth Aribi, at the youth panel session in South Korea.

Our Civic Engagement Lead, Ms. Elizabeth Aribi was part of the panel discussion for Transparency International Secretariat youth representatives from the Asia and Pacific region: Indonesia, Pakistan, Malaysia, Fiji and Papua New Guinea. Aligning with the panel discussion theme “Youth at the heart of Democracy”. Ms. Aribi spoke of the challenges that youths, especially young women and girls in Papua New Guinea face. Factors that hinder young women and girls to progress in life include poverty, unemployment and rapid social change contribute to high violence rate witnessed by young women and girls in the country. Other factors include high illiteracy and unemployment rates and lack of information makes it difficult for them to make sound choices.

The 3rd Summit for Democracy was held on 19th March in Seoul, Republic of Korea with the overarching theme “Democracy for Future Generations” underscoring the imperative of engaging youths in shaping democratic processes globally.

She emphasized that despite these challenges, there is change in our communities as these women and girls are breaking barriers in education and professionally advancing in their respective fields.

This entails a commitment to building and preserving democratic systems that promote well-being, freedom and prosperity of not only the current population but also those yet to come.

The work of TIPNG and its youth programs level out the playing field on youth participation. Our programs offer a place for discovery of oneself and each individual can be an agent of change with the skills and knowledge set they acquire from our programs and activities.

INVEST IN WOMEN: INTERNATIONAL WOMEN’S DAY

In commemorating International Women’s Day, our male colleagues took the lead in celebrating and appreciating the work and contribution of their female colleagues in the workplace.

The women at TIPNG commemorating International Women’s Day.

At TIPNG, we value and appreciate the efforts and contributions of our female colleagues at TIPNG and the important roles they play in ensuring that we contribute effectively as an organization to our mission.

The theme for this year’s International Women’s Day is “Invest in women: Accelerate progress.” This emphasizes the urgency of prioritizing the need to dismantle barriers that hinders women’s advancement.

YUA RISES TO THE OCCASION TO LEAD PACIFIC ADVOCACY

Yuambari speaking in 2023 at the Pacific Development Program (PIDP) in Honolulu, Hawaii, USA.

The transparency movement in the Pacific will be bolstered by the support of TIPNG through the secondment of Mr. Yuambari Haihuie.

TIPNG Deputy Director Partnerships and Policy Mr. Haihuie who has been with TIPNG since 2014, will be acting in the role of TI Pacific Regional Engagement and Advocacy Lead from March till December 2024.

Mr. Haihuie brings a wealth of experience to his new role, having been an integral part of TIPNG since 2014.

His secondment underscores TIPNG's dedication to supporting the broader transparency efforts within the Pacific region.

"We at TIPNG welcome the opportunity to contribute to the advocacy efforts of the transparency movement in the Pacific by providing personnel support. Mr. Haihuie's secondment underscores TIPNG's commitment as a national chapter and speaks to the openness and collaborative spirit in our region," said Arianne Kassman, TIPNG Chief Executive Officer.

As Mr. Haihuie assumes his new role, he will play a pivotal part in fostering collaboration among TI chapters in the Pacific. In the Pacific there are 6 chapters of Transparency International; Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Vanuatu, Fiji, Australia and New Zealand. Chapters of the global transparency movement are autonomous, setting their own priorities for their national context .

Recent regional advocacy by Transparency International within the Pacific has included a 2023 Money Laundering and Corruption Report by TI New Zealand, and the 2021 Pacific Corruption Barometer. The data collected from these reports will inform further engagement opportunities by the Transparency International Secretariat.

CELEBRATING 13 YEARS OF DEDICATION TO TIPNG

Only few exemplify values of commitment, dedication and passion as profoundly as TIPNG's longest serving staff, Yvonne Ngutlick, who is the Deputy Director Communications of TIPNG.

Ms. Ngutlick marked her 13th anniversary with TIPNG in January. Her journey has been nothing short of inspiring, characterized by her drive to contribute meaningfully to our mission and vision.

Since joining TIPNG in 2011, she has been an integral part of our organization's fabric. Her tenure has witnessed transformative changes, all of which she navigated with poise and unwavering commitment.

Ms. Ngutlick has been instrumental in developing TIPNG's communication strategy, working hard to strengthen and maintain TIPNG's brand and developing the Active Civic Engagement (ACE) for youths and community leaders.

Whether its advocating for good governance, empowering citizens and communities to demand accountability or tirelessly working behind the scenes to drive meaningful initiatives, her passion shines through.

Beyond her professional responsibilities, her warm and friendly demeanor have endeared her to everyone she encounters. Her ability to foster meaningful relationships, both within the organization and with external partners, has been instrumental in TIPNG's collaborative and advocacy efforts.

Her 13-year milestone is not just a testament to her loyalty but also a celebration of the enduring spirit that defines TIPNG's workforce.

TIPNG's Deputy Director Communications, Yvonne Ngutlick, all smiles at her anniversary put together by the TIPNG staff.

MEMBER FEATURE

INSTITUTION MEMBER: MELANESIAN INSTITUTE

What is your mandate as an institution?

The Melanesian Institute, a church-run ecumenical research institute and a hub of cross-cultural understanding, is mandated to help the churches speak clearly to Melanesia's people's needs and respect their diverse cultures and faiths.

Why is stopping corruption in Papua New Guinea important to you?

The Melanesian is a church research institute that has the legal and moral responsibility to uphold Christian values and ethics by promoting transparency and good governance through its works and networking with like-minded organizations. TIPNG is a like-minded organization and its tireless effort to stop corruption is integral to Christian values and ethics.

(Left) Br. Martin of Melanesian Institute at the launch of TIPNG's Membership Drive in November 2023.

How long have Melanesian Institute been a member of TIPNG?

Melanesian Institute has been a member of TIPNG since 2020.

INDIVIDUAL MEMBER: GEORGE MONOULUK

What TIPNG activities have you joined/volunteered for?

I was in the TIPNG Legal Internship Program 2022-2023 and I also took part in the Sir Anthony Siaguru Walk Against Corruption in Lae in 2016. In August, 2023, I attended the Transparency International Youth Regional Event in Fiji as a representative of TIPNG. It was a youth event that we attended as TIPNG to contribute ideas as young people to appeal to the government to engage young people in anti-corruption efforts at all levels. I also volunteer my time to help out in any activities or tasks I can assist in at TIPNG.

Why is stopping corruption in PNG important to you?

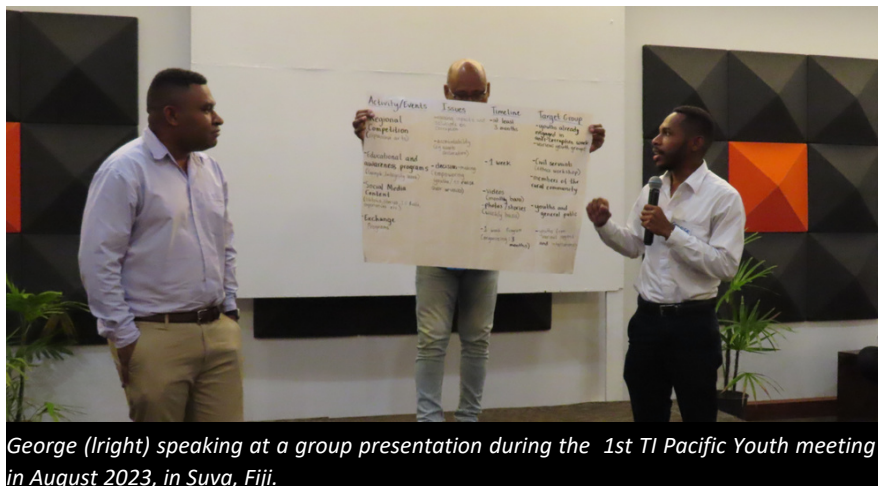

Stopping Corruption is important as it protects the future of our Country. Fighting corruption now ensures that the next generation has a future.

Individual Member - George Monouluk.

Who should be a member of TIPNG?

Everyone with a moral compass should be a member of TIPNG. Anyone who feels that corruption exists and that steps can be taken to limit corruption should join as a member of TIPNG.
